

Update: Construction of new streetcar infrastructure on York Street

Expected start date: As early as October 16, 2023

Hours of work: Monday to Friday, 7 a.m. to 12 a.m. with some weekend and overnight work

What is happening?

- Metrolinx is working with the TTC and the City of Toronto to build a permanent streetcar detour route along Adelaide and Richmond streets, connecting via York and Church streets. Once completed, the 501 Queen streetcar will keep riders moving during the construction of the Ontario Line.
- The detour route will create a permanent route the TTC can use during special events or when road works are required.

- Metrolinx crews will be performing utility removals and relocations as well as other necessary roadway work such as track slab excavation, pouring of a track slab foundation, and conducting work on the traffic signals to support the installation of new streetcar tracks.
- There is track construction work being undertaken by the City at the intersection of Adelaide Street and York Street. More information can be found on the City of Toronto's website.

What to expect

Lane closures and access

- The York Street project will be conducted in four stages. Stage 1 will start first (see map above).
- Metrolinx will update the local community on the plans prior to the start of other stages, including any mitigations that are required for traffic and pedestrians.
- One westbound traffic lane will remain open on Richmond Street at the intersection of York Street and Richmond Street.
- A paid duty officer will be on-site 24/7 to safely direct traffic.
- Local traffic will be permitted to make a left-hand turn onto York Street from Richmond Street to access parking and laneways.
- A U-turn along York Street south of Richmond will be allowed through the facilitation of a paid duty officer.
- The existing bike lane on Richmond Street West will be maintained throughout construction.
- Pedestrian access, parking lots and driveway access in the area will be maintained, with occasional weekend and overnight driveway impacts. Metrolinx will coordinate with property owners in advance if their driveway or parking lot will be impacted to ensure adequate mitigation measures are in place, including having a member of the construction team present to assist traffic entering and leaving the driveways.
- Clear signage will be posted to caution and direct drivers, cyclists, and pedestrians.
- The commercial bus stop in front of the Sheraton Hotel will be moved from York Street to Queen Street.
- The lane closures identified in the map above will remain in place during weekdays, as well as weekends when no active construction work takes place.
- More information and updates on the additional phases of work will be shared as the project advances.

Noise and safety

- Residents and businesses near the sites may hear noise caused by various types of machinery.
- Equipment may be left on site and will be properly secured and stored to ensure safety.
- Work may be delayed due to weather conditions or unforeseen circumstances.

About the project

- 15.6-kilometre subway line that will make it faster and easier to travel within Toronto and beyond.
- 15 stops and more than 40 connections to other transit, including GO train, subway, LRT, streetcar, and bus lines.
- Less than 30 minutes from one end of the line to the other.
- 28,000 fewer cars on the road each day.
