

Extended: Holly Street Closure at Eglinton Avenue East

Until approximately late-December 2023

What Work is Taking Place?

Holly Street will remain closed at Eglinton Avenue East until approximately late-December 2023 to facilitate utility upgrades and road restoration at Eglinton Station. The closure will be in place 24-hours a day, seven (7) days a week. The work zone will remain on Holly Street south of Eglinton Avenue East. Construction activities are expected to take place between 7:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. and will include excavation, wet and dry utility installations, backfilling, concrete works, and paving. All other traffic staging will remain in place. Occasional overnight work may be required for special activities. Upon completion of this work, short term lane reductions may be required to facilitate special activities.

What to Expect

No vehicular access between Eglinton Avenue East and Holly Street. Noise from construction activity, including trucks, breaking of concrete and asphalt, utility work, and use of heavy equipment can be expected. Construction vehicles and trucks will stage within work zones and traffic tapers. Traffic barrels, fencing, signage, and other equipment will be erected to delineate work zones. Occasionally, the use of a hydro-vacuum truck, jack-hammer, and/or compaction roller will be required. Occasional overnight work may be required for special activities. Expect delays while traveling through the area.
