Community Benefits

METROLINX COMMUNITY BENEFITS PROGRAM

- Adopted by Metrolinx Board of Directors, September 2013
- Metrolinx committed to community benefits programs for the Toronto LRT projects beginning with the Eglinton Crosstown LRT Project.
- April 2014, Metrolinx signed a Community Benefits Framework outlining the roles and responsibilities of the key partners, the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities (MTCU), ProjectCo, Metrolinx and the TCBN.
- Crosslinx Transit Solutions (CTS) , the private partner to design, construct, finance and maintain the Eglinton Crosstown LRT Project and is responsible to deliver on the requirements of the Community Benefits Project Agreement
- As per the Community Benefits Project Agreement, an Apprenticeship Plan and a Community Benefits and Liaison Plan are required for review and approval by Metrolinx and Infrastructure Ontario

METROLINX COMMUNITY BENEFITS FRAMEWORK

What is the scope of the Metrolinx Community Benefits Framework?

- Focus is: employment, training, and apprenticeship opportunities for historically disadvantaged communities and equity seeking groups, as well as the provision of goods and services from local suppliers and social enterprises.

Specifically,

- Commits to local investment and procurement from businesses along the project corridor
- Identifies opportunities to partner with local workforce agencies to hire workers from historically disadvantaged and equity seeking communities
- Specifies working with the constructor and various subcontractors to maximize opportunities for apprenticeships

Community Benefits programs provide opportunities for communities that go beyond building new transit. People facing employment challenges are acquiring new skills and getting solid, well-paying jobs in construction. Metrolinx is building partnerships and pathways that are creating more opportunities for people to thrive in the economy.

PEEL COMMUNITY BENEFITS NETWORK

The Peel Community Benefits Network (PCBN) is an initiative that has come out of the Peel Poverty Reduction Strategy Committee with a specific mandate to ensure that the residents that most need help, benefit from the economic opportunities that the Hurontario LRT project will bring to the community.

The Network is accomplishing this by working proactively and collaboratively with the successful bid team, Metrolinx, the municipalities and the community to ensure that the project will be completed with the greatest benefit possible for the community.

THE PEEL COMMUNITY BENEFITS CONSULTATION PROCESS

The Network has been active in informing the community and building a network of stakeholders that can assist with implementing a community benefits framework for the Hurontario LRT. The Network has held numerous presentations in the community and three workshops with key stakeholders from community agencies, labour organizations, business groups and the municipalities.
