

Movement of oversized materials and machinery at Queen Street

Expected start date: As early as April 11, 2025

Expected duration: Various dates throughout April 2025

What is happening?

Piling is now complete at the future Ontario Line east station site at Queen. Crews will be moving various pieces of machinery and materials to and from the site over the month of April 2025, to complete the current phase of works and prepare for upcoming excavation works. Oversized trucks will be utilized to assist.

Often, these movements are made during overnight or early morning hours, when area traffic is less. Delivery times are often determined in agreement from the City of Toronto.

What to expect

- Movement of machinery and materials to and from the future Ontario Line sites at Queen.
- Deliveries will take place on various days and times through April, including overnight and early morning hours.
- Traffic control personnel will assist the trucks and safely guide the equipment into and out of the site, while maintaining safe operations and passage for vehicles and pedestrians in the area.
- Residents may expect some noise on-site from vehicle reverse alarms.
- Work may be postponed or rescheduled due to unforeseen circumstances.
- All necessary permits have been obtained.
